

In the Media Rotate Content

Schoolhouse Article Desktop

"On the eve of International Women's Day this year, a small group from Schoolhouse arrived at the foot of a charming old brick office building in Portland's pictorial Sellwood neighborhood, wide-eyed and ready to learn." "...we spoke with Kerri about her important work on behalf of women leaders and soaked up all the creative energy we could from her considered, vibrant space."

Lessons on Leadership with Kerri Hoyt-Pack, Founder of The Liberty Collective an interview with Schoolhouse Electric

Read Full Article

Arciform Article Desktop

"When asked about the direction she hopes to take with The Liberty Collective, Kerri's goals are meaningful and impressive. She says, 'My goal is to create change — lasting, progressive and collaborative change that moves us forward in a positive and urgent way. I believe strongly that we can't just create an accelerator of talent to do what needs to be done... We have to shift the pervasive business culture that exists, and that [shift] benefits everyone.'"

This Beautiful 1909 Bungalow Matches Kerri Hoyt-Pack Inside and Out a feature on Arciform

Read Full Article

Radio Interview Desktop

A former Global Vice-President for Marketing for Nike, (Kerri Hoyt-Pack) visited the University of Nebraska at Lincoln to meet and work with students. She stopped by Rick Alloway's "Campus Voices" to discuss her career and her new initiative designed to help people from around the world develop evolved leadership skills.

Radio Interview for KRNU Campus Voices

Listen to the Interview